

Safety Instructions

Warning: You must read the following safety instructions BEFORE using the Kari Me baby carrier. Keep for future reference, in addition to the Instruction Booklet (manual).

Safety Instructions for the Kari Me Baby Carrier

- For safety reasons, the carrier must only be used as instructed by the manual.
- Make sure that there is an open airway and sufficient ventilation for the baby at all times.
- Keep chin off the chest – a baby should never be curled so their chin is forced onto their chest as this can restrict their breathing. Ensure there is always a space of at least a finger width under your baby's chin.
- Make sure that the carrier is secured to the carer's body with a double knot before holding the baby.
- Take care not to overheat your baby, this is particularly important in hot weather or high room temperature and when the baby has a fever.
- Inspect your baby carrier before every use. In the case of identifying any damage to the carrier avoid using the carrier until contacting the product care line for advice.
- Do not use the baby carrier while cooking in front of a stove or any other source of heat.
- The carrier is suitable for babies from birth to toddler whose body weight is up to 15Kg (33 lb).
- Your balance may be adversely affected due to movement of you and your child.
- Take great care when bending or leaning forward.
- Do not go to sleep while wearing your baby in Kari Me baby carrier.
- This carrier is not suitable for sports activities.
- To avoid the risk of suffocation: keep the carrier bag away from babies and small children. Do not let your baby or toddler play with the carrier.
- The age range recommended for each position should be followed, however further consideration should be made for the baby's weight, development, comfort, and the carer's preference and physical condition.
- For babies born prematurely - refer to their corrected age as a guideline.

In case you have any query regarding the usage of the carrier please call the product care line.

Kari-me care line: +44 20 70 196 196

E-mail: info@kari-me.com

